Guidelines for implementation of electronic mode of grant / renew of national permit for goods carriages.

- 1) All the national permit issuing authorities are required to be computerized and provided with access to internet or at least are compliant to Vahan software provided by NIC.
- 2) The transporter will apply for a new national permit or renewal of the national permit in terms of the forms specified under Central Motor Vehicle Rules as amended on 07.05.2010.
- 3) The transport authorities will verify the content of the application and other requisites and may collect Rs.1,000/- towards authorization fee.
- 4) The transport authorities will upload certain data on the national permit web portal (<https://vahan.nic.in/npermit/>) and advise the transporter to make payment of Rs.15,000/- towards consolidated fee, if everything found to be ok.
- 5) The transport authorities are also required to advise the transporters to access the national permit portal (<https://vahan.nic.in/npermit/>) and select the payment mode i.e., either by cash or internet banking.
- 6) In case of internet banking, the transporters will be benefited by the fact that the confirmation of payment would be done on real time basis and the transporter could get back to the RTO for grant / renew of national permit as the case may be.
- 7) In case of payment by cash, the transporter will get a print out of automatically filled challan generated through the national permit portal. He will deposit the cash through the challan at any branch of the SBI and get the stamped copy of the receipt of the challan.

Thus in case of cash payment, the transporter has to wait for at least one more day after depositing the amount to get electronic confirmation of the payment which is a pre-requisite to check fraudulent practices.
- 9) The transporters would then approach the transport authorities for grant / renew of the national permit. The concerned transport authorities will then log on to the national permit portal and verify the status of the payment and subsequently issue the permit electronically printed on stationery having hologram of the issuing State / UT.
- 10) For the purpose of computing the validity of the national permit, the date of authorization shall be the reference date.
- 11) The Ministry is in the process of developing the SMS component of the software to assist the enforcement authorities of the transport departments to check the genuineness of the national permit through SMS. Once the system is
